HUMAN RIGHTS - FROM PASSION TO PROFESSION

HUMAN RIGHTS TRAINING FOR UNIVERSITY STUDENTS GENEVA, 08-11 MAY 2012

Do you firmly believe that all human beings were born equal?
Are you aiming at a career assisting the international community in ensuring that human rights are respected for all peoples, everywhere, at all times?

If you answered yes to both of these questions, then we would be happy to welcome you in Geneva. WFUNA's Human Rights Training for University Students will provide you with key knowledge and skills to start making a difference for human rights in your community and worldwide.

➤ WHERE

Palais des Nations
Geneva, Switzerland

➤ WHEN

08-11 May 2012

➤ DEADLINE FOR APPLICATION

15 April 2012 (if visa required)
29 April (if no visa required)

The training, held in May, will strengthen the human rights advocacy capacity of young university students and provides them with concrete tools in human rights project management and with guidance in career development.

The four day training is divided into three components: education, project management and career development

During the education component, participants will learn about available human rights instruments and implementation mechanism, how the international community develops human rights standards, and what is being done to ensure implementation worldwide. Throughout the training, participants will interact with key actors in the human rights field. The project management component will focus on teaching practical skills in development and implementation of human rights activities.

All participants will learn to create basic advocacy and awareness raising activities on human rights issues.

Through the component on career development, participants will acquire an overview on the current job market, potential internship opportunities, and receive guidance on application processes and requirements.

To apply, you must be between 18-25 years old, have a good knowledge of international institutions, be highly committed to human rights, driven, creative, and well-organized. Please fill out the application form, and send it to us together with your CV, motivation letter, and a 500 word essay about a human rights issue in your community that you deeply care about.
